Poetry Evening
Monday 24th April. 7.30pm

Come along to share, listen and enjoy poetry, old and new, on the theme of 'Women', while enjoying a glass of wine! All very welcome. Marion says...

'We are all the guardians of heritage but aspects of heritage can be passed down by men to men and women to women. Women have been thought of as our first teachers as babies and children and the guardians of family and community. However stereotypes are constantly challenged and poetry is a wonderful art form to explore the many aspects of women's individuality and personality, and roles in every aspect of our history, community and society'.

Coronation Display

To celebrate the Coronation of King Charles, the primary school have shared some of their work for us to display in Church and we hope to add some photographs and memorabilia of Charles in earlier years which can be placed in the exhibition cabinet.

If you have anything you would be happy to share, please do let us know. Thank you.

Geoffrey has kindly shared this postcard originating from Escrick.

Do you recognise any of the people or the house please?

We look forward to seeing everyone very soon.
